became a double celebration, honouring both the Junior Championship victory and the All-Ireland Senior Football success of their countymen. Joining the club in New York for the occasion were Brian Dooher and Mickey Harte, respectively the Tyrone county captain and manager and two men whose legends continue to grow with the passing years. "There were about 500 people in attendance," recalls Seamus, "and with the two lads joining us after such a great year at home, it turned into a good night alright!"

With a new manager in the shape of Rory Keenan, and the task of a senior football campaign ahead of them, 2009 promises to be another big year for the Tyrone club. However, Seamus is taking nothing for granted. "The club has been in existence for 60 years, it's been 26 years since we last won a senior title and the last decade has been a particularly difficult period for us with the survival of the club being a big achievement on its own at times.
