The Pros Wash Their Gear, So Should You!

For the same reason you wash your workout clothes, you should also wash your hockey equipment on a regular basis. All athletes sweat, especially those wearing bulky protective equipment, such as hockey players. Over just a short period of time, the bacteria build-up can cause the equipment to smell and become grungy. Wearing dirty equipment can significantly increase the risk of skin infection and illness. Cleaning your equipment regularly is an easy and effective way to keep your athlete on the ice!
