PTO CO-PRESIDENTS' MESSAGE

A horse walks into a bar, feeling a bit depressed. The bartender turns to him and says, "Hey pal, why the long face?" Get it? He's a horse, and he has a long face? Anyway, that "joke" has nothing to do with anything, really. I was struggling for a way to open this week's newsletter and after about ten minutes that was the best I could come up with. I promise it will get better (mostly because it can't get any worse).

This week I have two things I'd like to talk about. The first topic I want to discuss is our upcoming PTO General Membership meeting to be held on October 9th at 9:30 am in the South House cafeteria. We are very excited to announce that we have a wonderful guest speaker scheduled to present. More information will be coming soon, but take a moment now to put that meeting on your calendar. I can assure you it will be well worth your time!

The second topic I would like to discuss is volunteering. Recently, we have had somewhere more than two, but slightly less than a million, people ask us how they could become more involved. Obviously, the best way is to simply read The Buzz every week! But on top of that, we thought it would be a good idea to build a contact list that we could email directly whenever a new volunteer opportunity came up. We'll still publicize opportunities in all the usual ways, but no form of communication is more personal and effective than an email that is sent directly to you but doesn't actually include your name or any gender specific pronouns because it is also being sent to a few dozen other recipients. So, if you are interested in volunteering in any capacity at some point in time this year, please email us at hesptopresident@gmail.com to let us know. There's no obligation and no guilt if you can't volunteer, we're just trying to improve communications. Plus, take a look at some of the perks that come along with volunteering:

- Good karma
- Competitive pay and benefits package, including all major holidays off and paid vacation time
- Priority boarding on most major airlines
- Buy one, get one free...this applies to ANYTHING that you buy ANYWHERE in the world
- You get to drive in the HOV lane even if you don't have three people in your car
- And much, much more!

Seriously, though, volunteering for PTO events is a great way to support Hurlbutt and the wonderful teachers and staff. It's also a great opportunity to see your child in a different setting. Finally, it's a fun social activity. Take me for example. Before joining the PTO last year I had NO friends. But now I'm involved in the PTO and while I still have no friends, I feel like I'm much closer to making one than I was at this time last year. So regardless of how many friends you have, why not give volunteering a try? Email us today at hesptopresident@gmail.com. Thanks!

Have a great week!

PRINCIPAL'S NEWS

This week, our students filled the Hurlbutt honey hive with honeycombs for being safe, kind and responsible. We celebrated with an all- school assembly where the students sang, recognized each other's good behavior and met Horace, the Hurlbutt Honeybee, who is our school mascot. We are so proud of our students for all their efforts in making our school a positive place to learn and grow.

Thank you for helping make our traffic circle operate more smoothly. During pick up at 3:15, it has helped to have drivers stay by their cars. I also noticed that our students are becoming more independent, getting in and out of the cars and buckling themselves! You probably noticed that we have a yellow line painted on the sidewalk now. This line helps our students walk a safe distance from the cars in the traffic circle. On a few rare occasions, the barricade at the bottom of the driveway was not in place. We believe that was because of extenuating circumstances and the problem has been rectified.

We have had several cases of lice in the building. This is not unusual and the number of cases we have had is typical in elementary schools. School policy permits us to notify families of students who have verified active lice in their classroom. For more information about lice and the district procedures, visit the Weston Public Schools website, select Parents from the top menu and then the health and medical forms link. You can help at home by checking your children throughout the year and reporting any indications of head lice to the school nurse.

Warm regards,

Laura Kaddis Principal

OCTOBER NUTRITION NEWS

Typically, foods for school celebrations include cupcakes, candy, cookies, and soda. There is nothing wrong with an occasional treat, but unhealthy choices have become the norm rather than the exception. Classroom parties can help teach children valuable social skills such as helping to prepare the food, sharing with others, and cleaning up after themselves. See the full document for healthy celebration ideas and food focus of the month by Jill Patterson, RD, Resident Dietitian.
