

2014 Game Reports for Week 4

LW Blue

Sunday's game brought together two birds of prey. The Ottawa Eagles traveled far to face the LW Blue Frankfort Falcons. Unfortunately for the Eagles, the ride home was much longer. The fifth quarter began with crushing defensive plays by Justin Falejczyk, George Kekatos and a touchdown saving tackle by James Kwiecinski. Will Wiechers showed future NFL moves with a big run that stunned the Eagles. Jimmy Januszewski soared to a touchdown with a blazing speed run. By the end of the fifth quarter, the Falcons remained victorious and Billy LaPonte was named the MVP. As the official game began, Brayden Thompson, a new comer, showed he has true Falcon spirit by delivering bone crushing runs deep into the Eagles defense and eventually finding the endzone. As we started on defense, Ben Elgas leaped for an interception and another quick Falcons touchdown. Joseph Michaels and Jake Scianna appeared to have formed a new variation of the Malachi Crunch (for those of you old enough to remember Happy Days) by teaming up to crush countless runs by the Eagles offense. The true defensive machine in this game, however, was Dominic "The Dominator" Adamo. Dominic unleashed repeated devastating tackles that left the Eagles stunned and hoping for a quick return to their nest. Jackson Elgas added another touchdown and spectacular runs. The most exciting moment of the game has to be the 71 yard touchdown run by Jake Scianna. Built like a Mack truck, he stunned the crowd and the Eagles with lightning speed. Last year, the Eagles trampled on the Falcons Superbowl ambitions by beating us in the playoffs. This game was payback and personal, however, the Falcons attained a 30-0 win while acting with class and playing with heart. Go Blue.
