

COLUMBINE HIGH SCHOOL REBELS

2011 Season Week 5

30 September 2011

Rebels Route Impalas 49-7

After a long ride down I 25 north the Rebels wasted little time finding their way to the end zone in last week's tilt verse the Impalas of Poudre High School. The Impalas came out throwing, the only problem was it was the Rebels who did the catching. After intercepting the first play from scrimmage, the Rebels needed only 4 plays to start the barrage. Once again it was Cameron "Don't call me old" McDondle doing the damage, ripping off a 22 yard romp to give the Rebels a 7-0 lead at the 9:50 mark of the first quarter. This was only the beginning of what we have become very accustomed to sdeeing from this team, by the time the quarter was over the game was as well. Leading 21-0 and with the home team only having run 10 plays and not conquered the first down barrier all that was in doubt was at what point Coach Lowrey would call off the hogs. The first half ended with the boys in blue holding a 35-0 lead and the game was not even as close as the score indicated. The Rebels used several new formations designed to spread the defense out and keep teams from loading up with everyone including the waterboy and cheerleaders waiting in the box. Give the Impalas credit as they never gave up, breaking the scoring drought at the 8 minute mark of the third quarter. However, that was as much as they would get on this night, two more third quarter scores by the Rebels in quick fashion would move the game clock into the mercy rule. As time ticked quickly by the fourth quarter could not end fast enough for the Poudre team and the Rebels seemed content to go deep into the bench and rest the starters for upcoming conference schedule.

The Running Rebels tallied only 232 yards on 25 carries but senior slinger Justin Brown showed he can air it out when given the chance. Perhaps moved by long time fan Mike Carroll's pleading to throw the ball, Brown connected on 6 of his 7 passes for 125 yards and one TD to Tyler "I'm not just a toe" Thomas. Ceasar Lopez was the main target for Brown as he corralled 4 passes and turned them into 92 yards of turf, including a long of 52 yards. Brown showed his feet work as well as his hands as he knocked through a perfect 7 of 7 extra point attempts, it is not clear at this point if he will attempt some other way to score this year, stay tuned and let's see what he has in store for next week.

On the defensive side of the ball, the Rebels once again pounded the opposing backs with big efforts from Nick Hoffschneider, Jaxon Mohr, and Trenton Headley in an effort that had everyone but the ball boys making tackles. When the Impalas dared throw the ball senior safety Trey Quinn was there to make almost as many catches as the home team and ended the game with 2 picks, Caleb Schnell added another interception. Junior DB Danny Schmidt was credited with a 14 yard sack, fans were hoping for the famous Schmittty sack dance that father Dave was famous for in North Dakota, but Danny acted like he had been there before and kept it light.

All in all a good way to wrap up non conference play, as the Rebels continue to get healthy let's just hope they can keep focused. Big games are just around the corner and some Mustang Pie and Bear Burgers are on the menu, both will be cooked well done and probably end up a little burnt. Stay tuned sports fans, this is going to get interesting real soon.

Rebels vs Chargers preview

It's time to get down to business, the Super Six starts this week and expect the Rebels to continue their winning ways as they square off against rival Chatfield Chargers. With both teams going in opposite directions the game may not have the same luster it has had in the past but a rivalry is always a big deal. The Chargers have struggled so far this year under coach Bret McGatlin to a 1 - 3 record in their out of conference schedule. The Chargers have fallen on hard times and have given up more points this year than the Stock Market, and seem to have trouble stopping the opposition on the ground or in the air. When the Chargers have the ball they are a running team that has yet to get much traction, averaging just over 3 yards per carry behind a young and undersized offensive line. The main rock carrier for the Chargers is Junior RB Patrick Elsenbast who has carried the ball 45 times in the first four games averaging just over 4 yards per rush. When the pigskin is handed to a different back look for it to be Senior tailback Eric Gaytan, quick and shifty he has the best rushing average on the team and if he gets loose he can get away quick.

The Chargers have had some success putting the ball into the air and the Rebels DB's better lace up their cleats as Senior QB Austin Ihm has been on target more often than not. Ihm has completed passes at a 75% rate for more than 10 yards per catch but has struggled to get his team into the end zone, perhaps watching too much of Kyle Orton. Look for that NASTY Rebels defense to bottle up the boys from Chargers and lock them down. The Rebels will have the edge in this year's tilt.

Look for the Rebels roll to their 5th straight triumph but things will continue to get messy as the best conference in the state turns on itself. The ponies from the hood will try and contain senior QB Tommy Flanagan of Bear Creek as two of the state's top teams lock horns. The Rebels will continue their climb to the top and with some upcoming tougher tilts should start to get the recognition that seems to be lacking so far.

Bo Jackson: "If my mother put on a helmet and shoulder pads and a uniform that wasn't the same as the one I was wearing, I'd run over her if she was in my way. And I love my mother."
