Diamond Baseball of Boulder
Diamond Baseball of Boulder encourages community baseball in Boulder through support for North and South Boulder Little Leagues, and the Bison youth baseball program. DBOB was established in 1994 by parents, as a non-profit, 501(c)3 corporation. We fund our programs through player fees, grants, team sponsorships, annual fundraising events and tournaments.

The Cost of Baseball
The cost of fielding a team can range from $6,000 to $30,000 per season. This includes insurance, uniforms, equipment, fields, league fees, tournament fees, umpire fees and coaching fees. Unfortunately, player fees account for a majority of this amount. Our ability to keep baseball affordable is made possible by sponsorships.

What Does a DBOB Sponsor get?
An individual, business or organization that contributes to DBOB will directly reduce player fees, add equipment and help us make improvements to our facilities.

In return:
"Team" sponsors will see their logo on the DBOB website www.DiamondBaseball.org (we receive over 3,000 visits per month), and all Bison team banners.

"T-Shirt" sponsors will also get a large logo on the back of all Bison t-shirts for the upcoming season. There will be approximately 200 t-shirts made that are distributed to all Bison/BHS players and coaches.

"Uniform" sponsors will also get their logo added to the sleeve or back of every official Bison jersey. There is only one uniform sponsor per year.
