Each year, the league appoints a board member responsible for League Safety. It is the Safety Officer's responsibility to prepare a safety plan and ensure that all information regarding the safety procedures for all activities, equipment, and facilities are communicated and published to all members of our organization. The 2017 Safety Officer is John Saenz. He can be reached at (858) 876-5521 and/or safety@delmaramerican.org or through Little League National where all the board members are identified.

3. Medical Emergencies.

A. Medical-Emergency Procedures.

Prior to the first practice, Del Mar Little League requires all parents to complete the Little League National Medical release form. Managers are required to keep the emergency medical information in their possession during all league activities. The Safety Officer is responsible for periodic random checks to ensure that proper medical release information is being maintained by team managers.

Managers must notify a player's parents immediately if a medical emergency occurs in the event that the parents/guardians are not present. In the event of a medical emergency, managers, coaches or other parent volunteers should call 911 if immediate medical attention is deemed necessary. Managers are also informed which schools have and AED available if needed.

B. First-aid kits.

The league provides all managers with first-aid kits. In addition, the league includes it is budget funds to replace supplies within the larger first-aid kits and cold packs stored in field boxes. Managers are required to have first-aid kits at each game and practice.

C. First-aid training.

First-aid training is provided for managers and coaches. At least one coach or manager from each team must attend annually. The training date, location, and attendance are documented by the league. All Managers and coaches in the league must attend at least one first aid clinic every three years.

The clinic for 2017 was held on February 2, 2017 at Sage Canyon Field. Presenters for the event were coordinated with Del Mar National League. Topics included; going over the players Medical Release forms and who to contact if an injury happen, the importance of keeping the person hurt calm and alert and if possible two adults involved. One person to make contact with names identified on the medical release and another focused on the person that is hurt. At the clinic will be at least one local health care professional, usually a Doctor, to go over first aid situations, Prides Fundamentals, and how to watch for a concussion and the importance of not having the child back on the field until he has been cleared by a Doctor, if there is any loss of consciousness or head injury where the kid is wobbly, dazed, confuse or vomiting. Dr. Robert Patel, from Sharps Memorial provided instruction and Hospital Emergency Handouts. Additionally safety instruction, in particular events involving the face and month, was provided by Dr. Jason Morris, a local dentist and former baseball player.

Managers and Coaches area are also given by their division level coordinators instruction in regards to practice, game safety and on "PRICES" fundamentals and other first-aid topics. Managers are also informed about the "safety first" doc on the DMN website and how to get additional player's medical release forms and injury tracking forms.

A copy of the Little League Baseball Incident/Injury Tracking Report is contained in the appendix to this plan.

Managers or the Safety Officer are to provide any injured player a copy of the Little League Baseball Accident Notification Form should the player wish to file an insurance claim with Little League Baseball. F. Concession stand(s).

The league does not have a permanent concession stand. It does have a refrigeration system and when it does offer food, it operates similar to a concession stand during games at the fields located at Ashley Falls. Volunteers supporting the concession are trained in food handling and will adhere to the following rules;

1. Menu.

The menu is kept simple. Potentially hazardous foods (meats, eggs, dairy, protein salads, cut fruits and vegetables) are kept to a minimum. Care is taken to ensure there are no leftovers of premade or food warmed up at the site. The source of foods is only from site reviewed by the board. Items that have been prepared at home are not included on the menu.

2. Cooking.

Use a food thermometer to check on cooking and holding temperatures of potentially hazardous foods. All potentially hazardous foods should be kept at 41° F or below (if cold) or 140° F or above (if hot). Ground beef and ground pork products should be cooked to an internal temperature of 155° F.

3. Reheating.

Rapidly reheat potentially hazardous foods to 165° F. Do not attempt to heat foods in crock pots, steam tables, or other warming devices. Slow-cooking mechanisms may activate bacteria and never reach killing temperatures. Since most foodborne illnesses can be traced back to lapses in temperature control.

4. Cooling and cold storage.

Foods that require refrigeration must be cooled to 41° F as quickly as possible and held at that temperature until ready to serve. To cool foods down quickly, use an ice water bath (60% ice to 40% water), stirring the product frequently, or place the food in shallow pans no more than 4 inches in depth and refrigerate. Pans should not be stored one atop one another. The lid should be off or a jar until the food is completely cooled. Check the temperature periodically to see if the food is cooling properly. Allowing hazardous foods to remain unrefrigerated for too long has been the number one cause of foodborne illness.

5. Hand washing.

Frequent and thorough hand washing remains the first line of defense in preventing foodborne disease. The use of disposable gloves can provide an additional barrier to contamination, but they are no substitute for hand washing.

6. Health and hygiene.

Only healthy workers should prepare and serve food. Anyone who shows symptoms of disease (cramps, nausea, fever, vomiting, diarrhea, jaundice, etc.) or who has open sores or infected cuts on the hands should not be allowed in the food concession area. Workers should wear clean outer garments and should not smoke in the concession area. The use of hair restraints is recommended to prevent hair ending up in food products.

7. Food handling.

Avoid hand contact with raw, ready-to-eat foods and food contact surfaces. To avoid transferring germs to food, use an acceptable dispensing utensil to serve food.

8. Dishwashing.

Use disposable utensils for food service. Keep your hands away from food contact surfaces, and never reuse disposable dishware. Dishes and utensils should be washed in a four-step process:

- Washing in hot soapy water; Rinsing in clean water;
- Chemical or heat sanitizing; Air drying.

9. Ice.

Ice used to cool cans/bottles is not used in cup beverages and is stored separately. A scoop is used to dispense ice; never use the hands. Ice can become contaminated with bacteria and viruses and cause foodborne illness.

10. Wiping cloths.

Rinse and store wiping cloths in a bucket of sanitizer (example: 1 gallon of water and 1/2 teaspoon of chlorine bleach). Change the solution every two hours. Well-sanitized work surfaces prevent cross contamination and discourage flies.

11. Insect control and waste.

Keep foods covered to protect them from insects. Pesticides should be stored away from foods. Place garbage and paper wastes in a refuse container with a tight-fitting lid. Dispose of wastewater in an approved method (do not dump it outside). All water used should be potable water from an approved source.

12. Food storage and cleanliness.

Keep foods stored off the floor, at least, six inches. After the event is finished, clean the concession area and discard unusable food.

13. Barbecue safety.

Safely transporting food, precooking, and preventing cross-contamination are the major ingredients of barbecue safety. When transporting food, either from the grocery store or to a picnic area, keep it cool to minimize bacterial growth. Pack meat, poultry, salads, and other perishables in an insulated cooler with ice. Always marinate meats in the refrigerator, not on the counter. Reserve a portion of the marinade that hasn't touched raw meat for a dip or basting sauce. Don't reuse marinade used on raw meat or poultry unless it has been boiled first to destroy any bacteria. Meats and poultry may be precooked on the stove, microwave or oven to reduce grilling times. If foods are partially precooked, place immediately on the grill to finish cooking. Never partially cook meats and poultry and wait to finish cooking later. If meats and poultry are completely cooked ahead of time and chilled, they may be reheated on the grill to provide a barbecued flavor. If take-out foods such as fried chicken or barbecued beef will be reheated on the grill, and they won't be reheated and eaten within two hours of purchase, buy them ahead of time and chill thoroughly.

Don't use the same platter and utensils for raw and cooked meats and poultry. Be sure there are plenty of clean utensils and platters to allow separate handling of raw foods and cooked foods. Use clean, soapy sponges, cloths and wet "towelettes" for cleaning surfaces and hands. Cook everything thoroughly. Rare or medium meat or poultry can harbor harmful bacteria. Fish should always be fully cooked. For greatest safety, ground meat should reach 160° F on a meat thermometer, and poultry should reach 180° F for doneness. Since grilled food often browns very fast on the outside, make a "sample cut" to visually check for doneness. The juices should run clear and meat should not be pink, although meat color is not accurate. Most problems with grills happen when using a grill that hasn't been used for several months. If using a gas grill, check it over thoroughly before using it. Check for leaks, cracking or brittleness, and clean out the tubes that lead into the burner, looking for blockages from spiders or food waste. Make sure the grill is at least 10 feet from any buildings or trees, and never leave the grill unattended. Also, be careful if transporting gas canisters; never leave them in a hot car. The heat could cause some of the gas to leak out. If using a charcoal grill, use starter fluid sparingly and never put it on an open flame. It's always best to have a fire extinguisher nearby; it can stop a fire before it spreads.

7. Little League rules.

Managers and coaches are required to follow and enforce all the Little League rules at practices and games.

Managers and coaches must ensure that their players have the required equipment at all times, even catchers warming up during infield.

Managers and coaches are not allowed to catch pitchers during practices or warming up during games.

Managers and coaches must ensure bases that can disengage are in use at all fields.

Managers and coaches are required to know the league rules specific to the running of their division and follow all safety rules for their division and the fields they use.

Board Members will observe games and work with Managers to ensure they follow Little League National rules and the rules set within this safety plan.

Board Members will ensure necessary reporting to Little League National has been completed on a yearly basis including but not limited to:

- submission of Little League Player and volunteer registration,
- completion of the facilities survey
- providing a listing of board members and updating changes where required.

8. Volunteers.

All Managers, coaches, board members, and all other persons, volunteers or hired workers, who provide regular service to the league and/or who have repetitive access to or contact with players or teams, must provide to the league the necessary information for the league to perform a background check using the First Advantage system available online from the LittleLeague.Org website. The first Advantage System is used for all new volunteers, volunteers that have changed address, and when other methods for verifying the volunteer has not been done. The league does require new volunteers to provide a valid driver's license or other government issued photo identification for verification. Del Mar American Little League does not allow any volunteer to be in contact with the players on the field if the above process has not been completed.

9. Communication with league families.

All families are informed of league news through the use of the League website(s); <http://delmaramerican.org/>. Our website is updated several times per week.

The website contains information for contacting all board members. If a board member is not already at the field, and it is not a safety situation, families are encouraged to contact the umpire who will contact the Chief of Umpires. Within the information packets provided to Managers is also phone numbers of their coordinator, the safety officer, and other board members.

10. Travel regulations for managers and coaches.

All managers and coaches are required to have automobile insurance before transporting any player. All volunteers transporting players to or from a Little League event must ensure that the player is using a safety restraint and they adhere to all laws governing the route of transportation.
