Coming this spring Mason District Little League (MDLL) is introducing a new softball division for girls ages 9-12. No experience necessary to sign up, just girls who want to have fun and learn the game. The intent of this new division is to 1) provide a local team for girls interested in softball who are currently travelling to leagues outside of the district and 2) recruit girls who will be new to softball in order to help prepare future players for the Annandale High School (AHS) and Justice High School (JHS) softball programs.

Practices and games will start at the end of March and run through early June, with official registration starting in late February. This initial flyer is being distributed in order to gauge interest. Based on the number of girls who sign up the new team(s) will either play all games locally in the district, or look to partner up with a neighboring league.

As a new program the league is looking for managers and coaches, along with anyone interested in helping in to get the first season up and running. Don't worry if you don't have softball experience, the AHS and JHS softball programs have pledged their support to help coach the coaches.

Tom Dickson has been managing and coaching his daughter's baseball teams for MDLL for seven seasons, since 2012. He is leading this effort in order to extend their time spent on the ball fields together for a few more seasons.
