

Webster Youth Sports Council

Member Definition [update Draft]

Introduction

The Webster Youth Sports Council is a youth sports advocacy coalition comprised of community sports groups in Webster. Additional members include the Webster Central School District Athletic Director, the Webster Community Partnership and the Webster Commissioner of Parks & Recreation. The Council represents over 6000 players living in the Webster Central School District. The Council meets monthly to discuss common issues and opportunities, and participant group status. Three meetings a year, January, June and September are focused on scheduling facility space for member organizations for Spring/Summer, Fall and Winter, respectively.

The agreed priority for scheduling is as follows:

1. Entity owning the facility
2. School and school related activities (including PTSA, Scouts)
3. Webster Parks & Recreation
4. Webster Community Partnership
5. Webster Youth Sports Council
