Games		12

Note: There is no Bye Factor this year because there are an even number of teams and therefore no byes.

Week 18 games will not count for standings so that teams will have adequate warning of their first tournament game time. Please play that game normally, however--don't skip it or use it as a scrimmage.

Avs and Sabres ended the season tied for 8th. Tie was broken by record against each other (they split), then record against the #1 through #3 teams. There wasn't really any issue because #8 plays #9 in the first round.
