Code of Conduct

WMBA PARENTS - CODE OF CONDUCT

How can parents of WMBA players help to create a great baseball season?

Encourage the team as well as the individual, exhibit a positive and pleasant deportment at games and practices, offer assistance to the team where appropriate, and demonstrate respect for the abilities and the authority of coaching staff and umpires.

As a result of this:

You become part of the team, by extension, you have the respect of your child and his/her team. You can consider yourself part of their achievements.

As a parent, you should never do the following:

Use foul language, interrupt games or practices with personal comments, opinions or calls, make derogatory comments of any kind, use physical or verbal abuse of any kind, show disrespect by word or deed, for the authority of the coaching staff or umpires, encroach or interfere for the purpose of distracting or otherwise affecting players, harass players, coaches or other officials.

What would be the consequences of inappropriate behavior by a WMBA parent?

Investigation where warranted, verbal warning, expulsion from a game, barring from multi-games, barring for the season, team forfeit of a game or series; on a personal level, the players are the ones who will ultimately suffer in many ways for parents' bad behavior - (see Disciplinary Policy for specifics)

PARENTS IN ATTENDANCE AT GAMES AND PRACTICES REPRESENT STRONG ROLE MODELS FOR THEIR CHILDREN. FOR THE SAKE OF PLAYERS AND OFFICIALS, THE HIGHEST STANDARDS OF AUDIENCE BEHAVIOUR SHOULD BE EXERCISED AT ALL TIMES.

WMBA PLAYERS - CODE OF CONDUCT

Good play:

Support of teammates, respect for the authority of the coaching and umpiring staff, willingness to work hard and try your best, pleasant, friendly and co-operative manner, respect for opposing teams, adherence to the rules of the game, sportsmanlike conduct in victory or defeat, good attendance and attention at games and practices.

What is the result that you can expect from exhibiting these attributes?

The respect of your teammates, coaches and opponents, the opportunity to improve your baseball and life skills, being part of the achievements of the team, making friends, having fun, learning to work together and develop personal responsibility and accountability.

As a player, you should not:

Use foul language, rude actions or gestures, exhibit a lack of respect for teammates, coaches, officials, opposing teams, bad temper, physical or verbal abuse to others, ignorant or "trash" talking.

What are the consequences of unacceptable behavior by a player?

Investigation where warranted, verbal warning, benching for a game, multi-game suspension, loss of player rights - (see Disciplinary Policy for specifics).

ALL PLAYERS ARE EXPECTED, AT ALL TIMES ON FIELD AND AT PRACTICES, TO REFLECT A SPORTSMANLIKE ATTITUDE AND RESPECT FOR THE GAME, THE COACHES, TEAM MEMBERS, OPPONENTS AND OFFICIALS. PLAYERS MUST BE AWARE THAT THEY WILL BE HELD RESPONSIBLE FOR THEIR ACTIONS.

Online Website Pictures

With the introduction of an updated website that enables web site administrators, team coaches and team managers to add pictures WMBA seeks your approval to post pictures on the site that MAY inadvertently or purposefully include yourself or your son or daughter. If you indicate that you do not wish you or your children to be included in these pictures, please indicate so below and we will endeavour to ensure no such pictures are chosen. Should you ever locate a picture that inadvertently includes you or your children, and you do not want it on the site, simply use any of the numerous mechanisms available to contact anyone on the executive or the web administrator and they will promptly be removed.
