Overview

As our organization develops, the Park City Ice Miners recognize the need to create competitive practices and game situations. We understand the necessity to offer stepping-stones throughout the organization while focusing on long-term athlete development. We want to help build attainable goals for all players. Additionally, we are required to provide programs consistent with those allowed by the Utah Amateur Hockey Association (UAHA). The UAHA offers 4 levels of play in Utah. Tier 1, Tier 2, Utah Travel League (UTL) and Utah Youth Hockey League (UYHL) - Division 1 and Division 2.

For the 2018-19 season, the Park City Ice Miners are offering programs for players from beginner through advanced and for ages 4 through 18. A summary of the programs is listed below and are defined in more detail on the subsequent pages.

Set dates will be announced at the beginning of the season. Player assessments will be done twice a year with year-end evaluations done by the coaches.
- Practices and Team Ice-Time
  - Ice-time is purchase based on the number of hours per season that team is charged. The exact number of practices per week may vary slightly base on ice-time available at the different ice arenas. Over the course of the season, exact hours are accounted for each team. Some weeks, a team might have an extra hour of practice, but that will be adjusted and some weeks, that team might have one less practice. Many of the ADM practices are shared ice.
