Having an assistant coach would've made practices run smoother and more quickly but Jay did a great job even without. Highly suggest the number flips for the u10 games. We could never keep track of the score. Also, maybe a parent lesson night or mtg on the game rules and such and to answer questions. Finding girls rules for this age group online wasn't the easiest. Hoping we have club uniforms for the u10 girls next year. Give the current ones to them and order new ones for the u12??

We watched every opposing team with their 3-5 coaches and we had one, who did a phenomenal job,. The even bigger difference would have been to split the 2 teams differently. I am confident we could have had two 1st place teams rather than one undefeated and one with no wins (1 forfeit, but that really doesn't count). Our boys were outgunned every single game. Its a testament to their spirit that they didn't become discouraged and quit trying.

Some team bonding activities for the players would have been a good idea. Second, if coaches would make arrangements for recording the game our team plays. The watch the recorded Lacrosse games with players to guide them through the techniques would give the players an understanding of the rules. This would be a good training as well.

Playing teams that were at the same level as us or have the team a mixture of elite and rookies to help build the rookie teams confidence level. It was very hard on my son to loss every game.

The biggest issue our son had was the number of Sunday morning games. These were the games we had to miss and the team had to forfeit due to lack of players.

Field Maintenance, as the grass seems to be too high/thick.

We thought that the price of lacrosse included uniform and we should figure out some kind of fundraiser for the kids.

Maybe mixing the rookie and veteran team. He was disappointed in having lost every game because his team is mostly all rookies.

We had some coaching changes, but once the season started rolling things went well.

Some offseason communication with families a month before the season starts, especially in City League.

Bit of a rough start, but felt the board handled things gracefully as best they could considering the circumstances.
