

The league is divided into four conferences that also correspond with league representation on the regional executive council—North, West, East, and South. Conference affiliation is regionally based, with each conference currently consisting of 10-12 teams. The 10 and 11 member conferences have the greatest prospect for growth in the near future (see probable and possible additions below each conference on table).

There is a single classification throughout the entire league as opposed to the Division I and Division II classifications that existed previously. All varsity teams will participate in postseason play in one of three state championships—Class A, Class B, and Class C. See bracket graphic based on 45 varsity teams.

Seeding in the three brackets will be determined by the teams' LaxPower (www.laxpower.com) Reg In rating at the end of the regular season. The Reg In rating takes into account only those games played between league teams and doesn't take into account games played against teams from other leagues.

In the event that teams finish the regular season with a tie in their Laxpower Reg In power ranking the following tiebreakers will go into effect. #1 Head to head, #2 Record against common in-state opponents, #3 Win percentage in league, #4 Average goals allowed against in-league opponents, #5 LaxPower Strength of schedule, #6 Coin toss.

Each team plays six league-assigned conference games as listed below their team name (in bold) on the table. Additionally, each team is required to determine and play a minimum of six additional league games to be eligible for postseason play.

The way the attached table works is that the highest rated team and the lowest rated team are placed in the table such that the three teams listed to their left and right are the six next highest or the six next lowest rated teams. Toward the sides of the tables opponents are rolled over from the opposite side. The order the teams are placed in the table also allows teams that finished in middle positions to play correspondingly challenging schedules. Each team's final 2014 LaxPower Reg In rating is listed in parenthesis to the side of the team's conference rank.
