2-2-2 Attack Movement

In the 2-2-2 offense, the attack moves between three spots as shown below. The attack does this when one of them has the ball.

2-2-2 Attack Movement-2

As M1 split dodges from up top, option 1 is to have M1 shoot. If that is not there he passes to A2 who looks to take the ball to his right. Note that once A2 has the ball, this initiates movement from the attack. As A2 dodges, he is looking inside to either A3 or M3 picking for each other.

2-2-2 Pick Options

There are many options out of the 2-2-2 formation. If the ball is with A1, A2 can set a pick behind the goal. Note that you never set picks at X, but rather, between X and GLE. This gives the defense less time to react. A1's 1st option is to shoot. Option 2 is if there is a slide from A3's defender, A3 goes far post for a pass and shot.

2-2-2 Pick Options-2

Option 3 is to roll back and throw across to A2 who immediately attacks the crease. A2's options:

- Shoot
- Pass to A3 on far post
- Pass to M3 cutting down

2-2-2 Attack Dodge

In this play 222 formation, get the ball to A1 as soon as possible. Note that the 2 offensive crease players are in a stack or “I” formation. A1 will split dodge and try to draw a slide from either D3 or D2. If D3 slides, A3 goes far post for a pass and shot.

2-2-2 Attack Dodge-2

If the slide comes from D2, then the pass goes to M2 for a shot. If the slide comes from D1, adjacent slide, then the pass goes to a cutting M3 for a shot. It's important that A1 throws the pass to where the slide is coming from.

2-2-2 Middies Motion

Here is the motion for the middies in the 2-2-2 formation. Note that this motion is the same as in a Motion Offense. If middies dodge from up top, the other middies move to replace and you should always have 2 middies up top w/ a third mddie on the crease.

A variation of the 2-2-2 Offense is called 50%, where only the middies are moving and the attack remains in place.

2-2-2 Set Play 1

Here is a set play out of the 222 formation. M1 will split dodge with Option 1 being a shot. If that is not there, M1 passes to A1. As M1 dodges, the two crease players set picks for each other and go to each post. A1 has three options as he catches the pass from M1. Option 1 is a pass to M3 on near post. Option 2 is pass to A2 on far post and Option 3 is a pass over to A3.

2-2-2 Set Play 1-2

A3 will then split dodge and attack near pipe. Option 1 is a shot. Option 2 is a pass to one of the crease players depending on which defender slides. Option 3 is a pass to a cutting M2.

2-2-2 Set Play 2

This play utilizes a lot of picks. M2 dodges across the top and comes off a pick set by M1. M2 can either shot or look inside for a pass to either M3 or A2 who have set picks for each other. One goes near post while the other goes far post. If neither of those options are available, then M2 passes down to A1.

2-2-2 Set Play 2-2

A1 looks inside to either A2 or M3 at the near and far post. If neither are open, A1 passes over to A3.

2-2-2 Set Play 2-3

A3 dodges and attacks the near pipe while A2 and M3 pick again for each other. A3 can shoot, pass to either crease players or pass to a cutting M2.

2-2-2 Biggie-Small

This is a little bit of an invert where you'll have a long pole guarding A3 and a short stick on M2. M1 split dodges and looks to get the ball to M2 who has the shortie guarding him. M2 can dodge to goal and look to shoot, or pass to the 2 crease players who are picking for each other. Most defenses will slide early to help the shortie on defense.
